Information on the availability of research products listed in this document and how to acquire them:

Most of the research products listed in this index are available from the URLs shown with each item. Some of those that do not have URLs may be borrowed through interlibrary loan from the Combined Arms Research Library (CARL). Command and General Staff College Masters degree theses (Masters of Military Arts and Sciences) and School for Advanced Military Studies (SAMS) papers, if they do not have a downloadable version available as shown, are available from CARL. However, distribution may be limited based on classification of content. Contact the CARL reference staff at (913) 758-3053 for more information on availability of such manuscripts. MMAS and SAMS research is also available via the Defense Technical Information Center (DTIC), which has both public and restricted access, depending on the document. Foreign Military Studies Office (FMSO) publications for public release are listed with URLs; otherwise contact the FMSO offices at (913) 684-5961 for information on public availability and instructions for requesting copies. Other unclassified, but restricted research, produced by the Center for Army Lessons Learned (CALL) is generally available through the restricted CALL site only, which requires on-line registration. Contact CALL for information at (913) 684-7280.
